

Big Movement Highlights Diverse Chart

by Joseph A. Piccoli, WNTC AM & FM

Action is the word that best describes the WNTC playlist this week. Moving into the number one spot from six last week is Pink Floyd's "Another Brick In The Wall." The single, which comes from the album ranked at number one nationally for the last eight weeks, is by far the group's biggest single. The single previous to this one failed to make the national chart.

At number five this week is "Desire," by Andy Gibb. Moving up thirteen notches this week, it is sure to become his sixth consecutive million selling hit. Linda Ronstadt moves from nine to six this week while Tom Petty breaks the top ten for the second time with "Refugee," which moves up seven from fifteen. At number nine is "Too Hot," by Kool and the Gang, a group which has changed their style 180 degrees since their first rise to prominence in 1974. Much of the change can be attributed to their use of classical musician Eumir Deodato as producer. Rounding out the top ten are the Spinners, who move from twenty one last week. "Working My Back To You" is their first hit since "Rubberband Man" sold two million copies in 1976-77.

Just outside the top ten at number eleven is "Yes I'm Ready," by Teri DeSario and KC of the Sunshine Band. The song is a swirling remake of a 1965 hit and is also doing very well at the national level. Toto's futuristic love song "99" moves up to seventeen this week, and Bette Midler moves to nineteen. But the big news is at number twenty, where Bob Seger debuts with "Fire Lake," the first single from his latest album, "Against

The Wind." It appears close to two years after his latest, "Stranger in Town," which came out in June 1978.

At number twenty-two is Dr. Hook's "Sexy Eyes," and moving up to twenty four is ZZ Top with "I Thank You," which was first done by Sam and Dave in 1968. The latter duo also recorded "Soul Man" in 1967. Moving up to twenty six is Heart's latest entitled "Even It Up." Jumping from forty to twenty seven are Eagles with "I Can't Tell You Why." The song was written and sung mostly by the newest member of the group, Timoty B. Schmitt, who was a member of Poco for a long time. Twenty eight finds Foreigner's latest, "Women."

Kicking off the lower part of the chart is the Knack, with "Baby Talks Dirty," from their new album. Debuting at thirty five are the J. Geils Band, with "Come Back." They have enjoyed a strong comeback in the past three years, with the strong-selling albums "Monkey Island" and "Sanctuary." Their newest carries the title of "Love Stinks." Jefferson Starship debuts at thirty eight with "Girl With The Hungry Eyes." Despite the loss of founding members Grace Slick and Marty Balin the group does not seem to be suffering. Also debuting this week is Stevie Wonder's "Outside My Window," the followup to "Send One Your Love."

Johnny Winter's, who along with Head East will be at Clarkson on March 26, latest album, "Raisin' Cain" is an excellent mixture of rock and blues. This album, which is along the genre of George Thorogood and Bob Dylan, starts out with a song entitled "the Crawl," which is somewhat similar to Chubby Checker's "The Twist." That, along with "TALK Is Cheap" is the album's two best songs. "Raisin' Cain," without a doubt, is Johnny Winter's best effort to date. It has more rock and less blues than his previous works. For any Johnny Winter fan, "Raisin' Cain" is worth adding to one's collection.

WTSC-FM has alot of specials coming up in the near future.
